Krista Marne White Biography

On May 12, 2010, Krista White became America's Next Top Model. Upon winning this title, she received a lucrative contract with Cover Girl cosmetics, a six-page spread in Seventeen Magazine and a modeling contract with Wilhelmina Model Management of New York.

She was further rewarded with a back to school campaign with MaxRave, the company she previously worked for, owned by Max Azria, a clothing designer.

In August, she plans to grace the runway for New Zealand Fashion week. And in September she'll be a featured model for fashion week in NY for numerous designers, such as Korto Momolu of Project Runway fame.

Also in September she'll be the hostess of MidSouth Fashion Week in Memphis, Tn., again featuring several alumni designers from Project Runway fame.

Krista's future goals are to mentor little girls, enthusiastically proclaiming to them that big dreams still come true, enough when you come from a small town! Recognizing themselves when they look through magazines and on TV and being encouraged by their own reflection is an important goal that Krista wants to teach aspiring models. She would one day like to build a media empire, maybe even talk shows, like her mentor Tyra Banks; exploring every aspect of the median.

Krista was born December 19, 1984, she attended Pine Bluff School district, where she participated in band, dance teams and the flag line. She attended SEARK and UAPB. She was a member of the Arkansas River Kittyz (Dance team for the Arkansas River Katz).

Krista tried out for every cycle of ANTM and was originally inspired by seeing fellow Arkansan Kesse on the first cycle. She auditioned in such states as Arkansas, Tennessee, Texas, California and Nevada, before she was finally selected for cycle 14. Krista proudly lives by her family motto of Pride, Determination and Resilience which as you can see proudly paid off in the end!
